Haystack like the granite it rests upon is the fusion of many great elements. The k-spar, quartz, and mica are the people, water, and wildlife of Deer Isle, each distinctive, but reliant and whole with each other. If you are lucky to have spent enough time at Haystack you realize a minimalist setting where these key elements create a maximum impression. When I work with my hands I think about this and have adopted the equation as a mandatory design principle when I begin the creative process.
